

paul desmond microsoft certified principal data scientist 10 years experience creating models predict stock prices investment returns achieved 23 higher improvement accuracy seeking expand growing field work experience skills lowell massachusetts padesmond038gmailcom 7962942948 principal data scientist danaher cortland april 2017 march 2021 developed vision framework approached planned projects set milestones project goals provided direction gave team ability understand expected move projects forward set communicated desired outcome projects critical part role built maintained broad process technology development implementation skills led supported development optimization migration new existing technologies brought technology challenges resolved translating problems implementation developed technology concepts guided equipment selection assisted implementation technology rollout launch supported intellectual property marketing sales departments relevant expertise defined projects led small project teams develop innovations r studio python cloudera data visualization modeling machine learning statistics problem solving critical creative thinking communication organization time management certifications microsoft professional program certificate certification professional data engineer education data scientist abiomed danvers september 2014 february 2017 designed new statistical physiological features time series data evaluated algorithm performance offline silico live vitro vivo environments collaborated software teams implement algorithms embedded hardware maintained concise descriptions algorithm design specifications performance evaluations performed variability analyses model optimization quantitatively qualitatively evaluated new mlai techniques integrate algorithm design communicated algorithm designs performance results crossfunctional stakeholders bay path university longmeadow 20082010 masters data science gpa 3840 becker college worcester 20042008 bachelor science computer science gpa 3640 technical data scientist dell hopkinton january 2013 august 2014 provided thoughtful leadership deliver transformative aiops solutions saas platform provided strategic direction planning design architecture high quality complex software systems worked customers product experts blaze trail autonomous data center management solved customers complex problems using innovative analytical processes techniques conference machine learning conference open data science conference 2019 2017 title activity name etc city state january 2019 present lorem ipsum dolor sit amet consectetur adipiscing elit quid de pythagora scaevolam sed haec pueris audeo dicere inquit hunc vos beatum