

justine hendrickson metadata scientist data science graduate passion data integrity visualization statistics im excited apply passion data science collaborative efforts chevron team focused insightful highquality data analytics visualizations work experience labcorp entrylevel metadata scientist houston tx july 2021 current identified appropriate quantitative methods built relevant data sets address challenges across 6 different domains implemented 32 statistical machine learning solutions endto end life cycle deploying maintaining metadata scale developed measurement solutions experimentation frameworks ensure 100 informed effective datadriven decision making helped shape technical vision strategies 2 engineering partner teams datadriven recommendations communicated project results recommendations 24 stakeholders crossfunctional partners projects weather api site creator used html5 design dashboard visual interface previous weather api app citipy simple python library openweathermap api i create weather model across 50 world cities added features app applying bootstrap template designing website layout adding picture carousel cities used openweathermap api project drafted detailed documentation code utilizing github complete charts notes subpage stock analysis creator used stock market kpis determine whether tech sector stock market bubble displayed working knowledge data etl visualization api frameworks statistical methods python develop visualizations implement analyses cleaned historical data 600 companies nasdaq sp 500 accessing json endpoints company using python pandas justhemailcom 123 4567890 houston tx linkedin twitter skills python r sql tableau hadoop numpy education bs computer science university houston september 2017 may 2021 houston tx certifications aws certified data scientist